LOCAL AND FOREIGN MARKET QUOTATIONS

ing Losses Make Quick Recoveries.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 .- A continuation of diverse market considerations operated for further price irregularity in the last hour. When concentrated selling of Steel Common and other issues termed as war stocks ceased, a formidable buying movement ensued in the so-calied peace shares. Studebaker was conspicuous among the latter and rose to a new high price level for the year 1918. Optimism regarding the war situation was heightened by additional news of further successes by the allies, and each item was followed by a market movement. It would appear, however, that speculative liquidation in various war stocks has practically run its course and that the market for them should soon show betterment. The short interest in this class of securities has been considerably increased during the past several days.

FINANCIAL OPINION By Financial Editor.

The market, as far as one can judge, represents the endeavors of holders of securities to guess what stocks will have to be adjusted when peace comes, for practically every ed its last stage. When the war began, 99 men out of a 100 were wrong as to what would occur. They will probably be just as wrong now A common sense view of the situation would lead one to believe that with the shortage of material, manufacturies and labor there should a big demand for some time come. Almost every plant in country is working on war orde and to determine as to which on will be affected and which not purely a guess. It is only a fe weeks ago that the street refuse to buy rails. They were confide of their ruin, and were sure the had no speculative possibilities. Th is the very group now that the rai and file are inclined to buy. A r action keeps the market in a sa condition.
